UNTIL CHRISTMAS

The heavy rain of last Monday night practically assures the Palm Springs desert district of an excellent flower season. Earlier rains caused the flower seeds to germinate; now multitudes of small plants cover the desert sands and rains of this week have been sufficiently heavy to carry the small plants to maturity. It can be expected there will be future rains which should add to the luxuriousness of the flower display. This spring should be one of those flower seasons that we all talk about and so few persons, who have not seen the desert in flower, believe possible. So, if you have been talking about desert flowers to the unbelieving you have an excellent chance of proving your statements in a few weeks.

Last Sunday I had the good fortune to have Dr. Harvey, a botanist with the Department of Agriculture, attend the University of California field trip in Desert Natural History, to Tahquitz Canyon. Dr. Harvey is located at Pomona but has a desert home in Cathedral City where he spends many weekends. He knows desert plants and is a congenial person to be with on a field trip. Identification of a number of desert plants that I have not been sure of was made clear by Dr. Harvey. Field trips with a man of Dr. Harvey's knowledge and personality are a real pleasure.

While looking forward to the colorful flower display of the coming spring we must not forget that which is with us now. At this time one must look for the plants in flower but this adds zest to the search. In Tahquitz Canyon the scarlet flowers of the wild fuchsia escape attention until suddenly one becomes aware of a single beautiful blossom and then many are found. It is always difficult to see the first flower of a species but from then on they are popping up on all sides. This fuchsia will be found near the trail where it crosses Tahquitz Creek. It is the same fuchsia found in many sections of Central and Southern California.

The scarlet tubular flowers of the chuparosa are found in abundance as is to be expected this time of year. Here and there is a rabbit bush sprinkled with delicate yellow blossoms. And if your eyes are sharp you will find a species of goldenrod. It is somewhat early for the blossoms of the desert apricot but there are a few near the ends of favored branches. The buzzing of bees about a fragrant bush will call attention to the purple blossoms of the desert lavender. Crush one of the leaves to get the characteristic fragrant odor. A few desert trumpet plants are in flower but the inflorescence is inconspicuous and does not attract attention but the swellings of the stems are prominent and help to identify the plant. However, there is a variety of the desert trumpet that does not have inflated stems. The scientific name of the desert trumpet is Eriogonum inflatum, the inflatum referring to the swellings of the stems but the scientific name of the plant not having inflated stems is Eriogonum inflatum variety deflatum; so to speak, the name inflates the plant's stems then deflates them to bring about the variety name, deflatum.

An interesting situation exists in the flora of Tahquitz Canyon; the stream acts as a conveyance for seeds from the area higher up, this bringing into lower Tahquitz Canyon a number of species that do not ordinarily belong there. Several species of salvia are found that are native to higher elevations; the goat-nut bush is found growing at a much lower elevation than usual. This is the case with a number of other species.

The closing date that names will be accepted for the classified directory of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce "Annual" is Tuesday, Dec. 22. Anyone intending to join the Chamber of Commerce should file his application before that date in order to have his name included in the booklet, which will be distributed to residents and visitors in Palm Springs.

All business men who are paid-up members of the Chamber of Commerce will be listed under the proper vocations, alphabetically arranged, and the listing will include name, vocation, address and telephone number. Those whose dues are not paid cannot be included in the directory.

The booklet will be valued by all those who receive copies, for it will be used as a reference by residents and visitors who may desire information regarding the community. It will contain maps showing all streets, important buildings and places of interest, as well as train, bus, airplane and mail schedules, and much other information.

Anyone interested should phone the Chamber of Commerce office, 4052 or John Chaffey, chairman membership committee, 4114.

Street Signs May Remain Longer

Business men who have been worrying about the recent order from the State Highway Department that signs hanging from poles set in the state right-of-way must be removed at once, can rest at ease until the matter of incorporating Palm Springs is definitely decided, according to a statement by State Highway Foreman G. R. Prior.

Mr. Prior stated yesterday that the state will not enforce its order until after the incorporation election, if one is held, and then will co-operate with the city council should the community be incorporated. In case incorporation fails, the state will enforce its order.

Local Young Man Faces Hit and Run Charge

William Gerald Rogers, caretaker at the Reid Hospital, must stand trial on a charge of hit-and-run and driving while intoxicated. It is also alleged he was driving the car without the owner's consent.

Eye-witnesses stated young Rogers struck a car, driven by a woman, nearly upsetting the car, and then sped on without stopping to render aid, turning off on Indian avenue, then back to the state highway, with such speed that another autoist who took up the chase could not keep up with him.

At the first sharp turn north of town he was traveling at such a high rate of speed that he failed to negotiate the curve, striking a telephone pole with such a velocity that the same was snapped off like a toothpick, 18 inches above the base, and the car proceeded on across the desert, coming to a stop in the soft sand about 500 feet from the broken pole.

The accident speaks well for the Buick coupe he was driving, because it would seem impossible any piece of machinery could be sturdy enough to withstand such an impact, the pole having been a very heavy new one, recently put in to replace one broken by another automobile several weeks ago.

Young Rogers pleaded not guilty in the court of Justice of the Peace J. J. Fredericks, but the date of his trial has not been set. Local police officers and state highway patrolmen investigated the accident.

Earle Strebe and Cal Pearce were guests at the Banning Kiwanis Club meeting this noon.

Incorporation Plans Hit Snag

Incorporation proceedings struck the first snag Monday evening when Charles F. Doyle of the Smoke Tree Ranch asked to have a large part of Section 25 eliminated from the area to be incorporated, including the Smoke Tree colony and the Araby tract.

Mr. Doyle stated that H. W. Otis, owner of Araby, although unable to be present, expressed his wish not to be included in the city.

The protest immediately started a wave of resentment from other owners of property in the outlying areas, who stated that incorporation would not be effective in properly regulating the city unless all of the area as originally outlined were included.

The incorporation petition, drawn by the legal committee, is now ready for signatures, but several major property owners stated they will not sign unless the corporate area remains as was unanimously decided by the large committee, representing every section. It must be all or none, seemed to be the opinion of many at the meeting Monday night.

It was stated that requests for withdrawal must be filed with the county board of supervisors after the incorporation petition is presented.

Several owners of large and valuable properties stated that if the two large subdivisions are permitted to withdraw, they would likewise withdraw, in which case it would probably be impossible to get a sufficient number of signatures representing 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of the proposed corporation, and the entire plan would fail.

Chairman Frank Bennett adjourned the meeting until Monday evening, January 4. In the meantime, it is hoped to have the matter straightened out.

As a matter of information, the crude sketch of the proposed corporation is reprinted on page eleven of this issue, with a description of the boundaries.

Gala Opening of Plaza Theatre Is Spectacular

(By Lew E. Parsnips)

Glamorous, indeed, was the gala opening of the Plaza Theatre, Saturday evening.

Southern California society was here en masse. Scores of motion picture stars and executives; socialites, captains of industry, leaders in every vocation—from abroad, the East or near-by metropolitan centers—who are wintering here or who came especially for the occasion—marched up the roped-off walk as flashlights flashed and cameras clicked.

Liveried footmen opened limousine doors for lovely ladies, exquisitely gowned and escorted by tuxedoed gentlemen, while throngs who had not made reservations early enough to get tickets pressed against the ropes to see the famous and near-famous on dress parade disappear into the enchanting theatre portal between the two ancient tamarisk trees that had been preserved at great sacrifice when the theatre was built.

It was a spectacular setting. Huge searchlights played upon the desert mountains; a Spanish orchestra played soft music in the patio in front of the theatre—Hollywood in all its glory has never presented anything

Feature event of the combined harness race and annual Yuletide Gymkhana on Sunday, Dec. 20 at the Palm Springs Field Club will be the ladies' sulky race, which will inaugurate feminine sulky racing here.

The entries for the ladies event are:

Driver, Mrs. George Roberson. Horse, Hal Woolen.
Driver, Miss Helen Murphy. Horse, Abbe Britton.
Driver, Mrs. Harold Hicks. Horse, Watson Peter.

Box seats for the races are on sale at the Desert Inn, El Mirador and Palm Springs Drug Co.

All of the drivers in this event are leading socialites of Palm Springs and a large turnout is indicated by the great number of advance box seat sales for Sunday afternoon's thrilling double-feature program at the Field Club.

Christmas week will open here in an auspicious manner Sunday, when the annual Yuletide Gymkhana will be combined with the harness race program at the Field Club—assuring a most entertaining afternoon for villagers and vacationists.

The program will get under way at 1:30 p. m., with the start of the first pacing mile race with California's fastest racing horses entered. Interspersed between the races will be the gymkhana events to be participated in by local equestrians including Bobby Patterson, Helen Murphy, Johnny Vance, Johnny Wertheimer, and other famed local horseback riders.

Villagers and vacationists turn out quite en masse for this annual Yuletide equestrian event which is more entertaining than ever before this year, due to being combined with the Sunday harness races which will make it the biggest double feature program of the season.

The gymkhana events during the Sunday afternoon program at the Field Club will include: Boot race to be participated in by many local cowboys, who will race on their horse to a big pile of boots, find their own boots from the pile, put them on and race to the finish line on their speedy horses.

There will also be a nightshirt race and parcel race. Then will come the highlight of the gymkhana events, the horses jumping contests with leading local jumping horses ridden by noted Palm Springs equestrians over the va-more gorgeous—and Hollywood has had many premieres.

Never before, nor ever again, will Palm Springs have such a spectacle—for world premieres just simply do not come to small communities, or large ones for that matter, and surely never twice to the same place—other than the world's motion picture capital.

Thanks is due to Metro-Goldwyn Mayer for it was the executive staff of that great organization that made it possible, and they spared no expense to make the first showing of this year's masterpiece, "Camille," probably the outstanding world premiere of M-G-M history.

It is rumored that even the great Garbo was in the audience, incognito, to see herself at the zenith of her career—and that's something that seldom happens—Garbo mixing with her public. Robert Taylor, the charming young Armand Duval, who loved the lovely Marguerite Gautier, was there (and rightly so), and modestly acknowledged from the stage the plaudits of an appreciative audience.

New construction started during the first 15 days of December totals $106,250, for 17 jobs, bringing the year's total to $2,900,500 for buildings valued at more than $2,000 each, according to Joe Schober of the Mason Case Co., who has been making the survey throughout the year. This amount does not include repair jobs or new structures valued at less than $2,000. Thus the total is well above the three million dollar mark, and will probably exceed that sum for the jobs over $2,000, by the end of the year.

Ladies Race for Desert Riders

Driver, Mrs. George Roberson. Horse, Hal Woolen.
Driver, Miss Helen Murphy. Horse, Abbe Britton.
Driver, Mrs. James B. Oliver. Horse, Star Bright.
Driver, Mrs. Talman Crittenden. Horse, Peter Duke.
Driver, Mrs. Francis Crocker. Horse, Cinco Bond.
Driver, Mrs. Harold Hicks. Horse, Watson Peter.

Before a preview audience of Desert Riders on Wednesday morning at the Field Club, the lady sulky race drivers provided many thrills as Star Bright, driven by Mrs. James B. Oliver won the finals after qualifying in the first heat. Peter Duke and Cinco Bond finished in a dead heat to qualify for the finals in their preliminary race. Mrs. Oliver set a ladies' record with Star Bright of 2:18 for the mile and this record will be threatened at the Sunday afternoon races.

These ladies whose names appear above will ride again for the Desert Riders and their invited guests next Wednesday morning at the Field Club.

Poodle Wins First Place Dog Show

Trimmed and sporting an elegant French head-dress, the pearly white poodle, Oh Knight of North Hollywood won Best of Show trophy competing against over 400 outstanding thoroughbred dogs in the annual Palm Springs Kennel Club dog show at the Field Club last Sunday.

Hundreds of prominent socialites from all parts of the country and many cinema stars gathered at the Field Club to witness the judging. Dr. Frank Porter Miller, president of the Pasadena Kennel Club, and international authority on dogs, judged the final event of the colorful canine open-air classic, the Best in Show competition, climaxing the desert resort's biggest dog show.

The white poodle, the non-sporting dog group winner, won top-honors of the show here over the cream of the entries including: Redwood Russet of Harvill, Irish Setter, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Schweitzer of Alhambra, Sporting Dogs group winner.

If you are one of those busy individuals who doesn't have time to read an article through to the finish, we'll say at the outset that this column today asks you to sit down right now and write a $12 check to pay the debt YOU OWE to your community.

What?—You have paid all your taxes and other debts? But have you paid your share for the protection and finer things you have in Palm Springs now and which must be safeguarded in the future?

How did Palm Springs get its unsurpassed fire protection? Did the county officials come over here and say to us, "We are going to call an election to form a fire district and will then give you a good fire department," or did some one here take care of the situation until the matter could be handled through a legally constituted body? That somebody was the Chamber of Commerce.

How about police protection? Would you want to live here, in a wealthy community, with no other protection against burglars and kidnappers than a deputy sheriff or two sent out from Riverside? How did we get our police protection district and first-rate police department? Who started this thing? The Chamber of Commerce.

Would you want to live here if you had an over-flowing cesspool or an old-fashion outhouse next to your home? Who has constantly looked after the health of the community and who started the movement that brought about the sewer system here? The Chamber of Commerce.

Who has constantly kept a finger on the pulse of the body politic to make sure that Palm Springs gets what it deserves? Who has sent delegations without number to the seat of our county government, sixty miles distant, to beg and plead for the things Palm Springs must have? The Chamber of Commerce.

How about conditions on the Indian reservation? Although everything on the east side of Indian avenue isn't just exactly as we might all want it to be, who is there to deny that the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce with the Indians has improved sanitation, housing, or former serious abuses?

And so we could go on ad infinitum, over a period of 15 years, citing instances of service that were vital to the community; protests and legal action that have kept undesirable buildings or businesses from coming in, petitions and invitations that have brought the better things.

Some skeptic may reply: "Well, if the Chamber of Commerce had not, some other group would have done those things." Righto, a hundred per cent. But that other group, under any other name, would still have been a Chamber of Commerce, and in this case it was THE Chamber of Commerce.

If the Chamber of Commerce was needed in the past, it is needed now more than ever before, because our problems are greater and more numerous. Disband the Chamber of Commerce, and the community will be overwhelmed with undesirable features that cannot be controlled by the police, fire, or sanitary districts, unless some other similar organization takes up the work of the Chamber.

Palm Springs must have local government, and so far the only local government has been the Chamber of Commerce.

This work has been financed by public spirited citizens, who have given their time as well as their means. They want others

PLAIN GARDEN VARIETIES

I wonder if you've found the many kinds of love which grow.

Or should I ask—when, likely, you've seen far more than I know?

Well—if you have you'll find it very easy to recall That first kind, known as puppy love, that came when we were small.

Then there's that very prevalent type—Christmas love, I'd say;

Because attacks in late Fall, and gifts chase it away.

It's closely allied with a brand, known as the birthday kind.

After the anniversary, no fervency we find.

There's one that's hot — then cold — then hot. 'Twould drive me to despair!

I'd never understand affection varied like the air. But there is love that's perfect; it's unchanging and divine.

It knows no bounds nor ending; so—may it be yours and mine!

Aqueduct More Than Half Completed

Marking the completion of the first four years of construction on the Metropolitan Water District Aqueduct, progress reports received yesterday by General Manager F. E. Weymouth revealed that the 392-mile water supply system is today more than half completed.

Construction of the Colorado River Aqueduct, which will eventually carry a billion gallons of water a day to the members of the Water district, was started in December, 1932. During the past four years 102 miles of tunnels have been excavated, 73 miles of which have been lined with concrete and completed.

In addition to the tunnels, more than 133 miles of canals, conduits, and siphons have been concreted, 4,200,000 cubic yards of earth have been placed and compacted in the building of the aqueduct's terminal reservoir near Riverside and 150 miles of electric power transmission lines have been erected to carry electrical energy from Boulder Dam to the five Metropolitan Aqueduct pumping plants now under construction.

December, 1932, brought to a close the years of preliminary investigations and studies on the giant aqueduct project, and during that month the first steps were taken toward actual construction of the water supply system. Because of the desolate region in which the eastern portion of the Metropolitan Aqueduct is located, it was first necessary to build hundreds of miles of roads, water systems, power lines, and living facilities to prepare for the army of construction men who were employed on the work.

Employment records of the Water District show that since construction was started four years ago on the aqueduct, more than 26,000 men have been directly employed on the work, and approximately 35 million dollars have gone directly into pay checks distributed to these workers—all of whom are residents of the 13 cities now comprising the Metropolitan Water District.

At the present time 8,500 men are directly employed on the construction of the aqueduct, and officials of the District estimate that another 25,000 workers are employed in manufacturing establishments throughout the nation supplying the materials and equipment used on the big job. Construction material being used this year will amount to approximately 22,000 carloads.

During the year 1936, the Board of Directors of the Water District has received requests for information relative to annexing to the District from areas totaling approximately 400,000 acres of land extending from Ventura County to the city of San Diego. The Board recently ruled that Colorado River Aqueduct water will only be sold to members of the Water District, and that outside areas must first be annexed to the District before water can be delivered to them.

Based on present estimates, water district officers believe that the Metropolitan Aqueduct will be put into operation early in 1939. Comprising the district at the present time are the cities of Anaheim, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Compton, Fullerton, Glendale, Long Beach Pasadena, San Marino Santa Ana, Santa Monica Torrance, and Los Angeles.

THE EDITORIAL CIRCUIT RIDER

Straightening out the "ridiculous" situation resulting from the Justice Craig case should be one of the first jobs tackled by the forthcoming legislature, in the opinion of California editors.

Enactment of a law automatically removing judges from the bench after conviction of crime is necessary, it was agreed.

"Jailers at Ventura," remarks the San Jose News, "are wondering what they could do if a certain federal prisoner should decide to use his power to free every man in the county jail. The prisoner is Appellate Judge Gavin W. Craig, who is empowered by California law to issue writs of habeas corpus so long as he holds office. The attorney general's office admitted that Justice Craig, who is serving a year sentence, still retains all his powers."

The Craig case, according to the Long Beach Press-Telegram, "emphasizes need for remedy for specific laws that send a judge to jail and fine him $1000, yet permit him to hold his judicial office and draw a salary of $10,000 while incarcerated. This, of course, was a slip, somewhere, in legislation. No such situation could have been foreseen. Correcting legislation is urgent for this incongruous instance."

"Presumably," notes the San Mateo Times, "he (Craig) is clothed with dignity and authority of the second highest court in the state, and, as such, may issue writs and generally direct the course of justice from the confines of his cell. Should his judicial status remain unchanged when he gets out, he will undoubtedly be the first occupant of the appellate bench in California who can pass upon criminal appeal cases with some understanding of the psychology of the prison inmate."

"Practically, of course," said the Pasadena Star-News, "no harm is done by the theory that a prisoner in jail might perform judicial functions, because most assuredly none of the work of his office will be assigned to him; and it is not important that the state for a few months will pay a judge's salary to a man serving time in jail; but the situation is one of those absurdities in which California occasionally finds itself involved because of its unwieldy, prolix and clumsily drawn constitution. Probably an amendment to meet the dilemma in question will be initiated, but it will be even better if the legislature recalls that the people of California have voted for a convention to draft a new constitution and are waiting for the legislature to pass the necessary enabling act."

"However," comments the Hanford Daily Sentinel, "his place on the bench has never been declared vacant. As a result Craig is drawing $10,000 per year salary and will continue to do so until he has been duly impeached by the legislature, the only body that can remove him, and the judge-

GIGANTIC PICTURE, "ANTHONY ADVERSE" BOOKED, LOCAL SHOWING

FREDERIC MARCH AND OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND

Hervey Allen's monumental literary classic, "Anthony Adverse," brought to the screen with all its wealth and color and dramatic fire, has been booked by Manager Earle Strebe for the Palm Springs theatre, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 21-22.

Frederic March has the stellar role, with beautiful and talented Olivia de Havilland playing the leading feminine role.

There never has been a cast to approach this one in size, and few that will equal it in talent. There are ninety-eight principals with speaking parts, 2,550 bit players and extras, and nearly 3,000 artisans and technicians worked behind the cameras to make the picture letter perfect. More than 1,000 scenes were "shot" for the production on 131 mammoth sets.

The colorful and picturesque backgrounds are set in five countries on the continents. The scenes open in France, in the beautiful countryside and a great chateau, sweep through the Swiss and Italian Alps to the quaint city of Leghorn, Italy, then to Havana, Cuba, on to Africa and the great slave marts of other days, back to Italy and again to France to the court of Napoleon Bonaparte.

The presentation of portions of two operas adds of the magnificence of the production. Number one was written especially for the picture by Aldo Franchetti, former conductor of the Chicago Opera Company. The second is the famous "L'Orfeo," and is produced on a mammoth scale in a replica of the Theatre de La Opera of Paris.

Steffi Duna has the part of the half white, half African sweetheart of Anthony's at the time he is conducting a slave market on the Dark Continent. The role of Anthony's grandfather's sensuous housekeeper is played by Gale Sondergaard. The grandfather, a rich Scottish merchant doing business in Leghorn, Italy, is portrayed by the noted English actor, Edmund Gwenn.

Anthony's mother, married under pressure of her father to a Spanish nobleman, and who dies at her son's birth, is portrayed by Anita Louise. Claude Rains plays the role of the grandee of Spain, who slays his wife's lover in a duel. The latter part is enacted by Louis Hayward.

Billy Mauch plays the part of Anthony when he is a boy of ten.

ship is declared vacant. Such action then will leave it up to the governor to fill the vacancy. Then the pay of the convicted judge will be discontinued, the anomalies that occur now and used. The situation presents one of them for lack of ready provision in the constitution or statutes to meet an emergency."

"So there you are," concludes the Ventura County Star. "He's in jail under federal sentence for conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Italo Petroleum case. But that doesn't disqualify him as a judge, doesn't deprive him of his salary. When you pay the state of California some tax money, you may compute, if you wish, what percentage of the amount will go into Justice Craig's pay envelope. It will be a bit of stimulating mathematics."

MYRICH LOSES FINGER IN ACCIDENT AT CABAZON SHAFT

Carl Myrich lost a finger and sustained injury to other members of his hand when he caught it in a mucker door at Cabazon tunnel, on the Colorado River aqueduct.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Old Fashion Christmas This Year

Old fashioned Christmas spirit will prevail on the desert in Palm Springs, when Old Saint Nicholas himself arrives in Palm Springs, December 24. According to Mrs. Toretzky at the local airport, Santa will arrive in a Stinson, four-passenger plane at 2:30 p. m.

The old coach from Rogers Stables will transport Santa to his destination. A parade under the direction of "Little Bear," from MacDonald's Stables will precede the coach, a bugler, Junior Omlin, in black and red herald's costume, followed by six young ladies, Patsy Hunter, Jimmy Rogers, Betty MacDonald, Doris and Babs Neil and Barbara McKinney, dressed in red with green garlands, will lead the way from Dr. Reid's corner down Palm Canyon Boulevard to the Plaza and back to Tom O'Donnell's golf course, going in the main gate by the club house, where a live tree will be decorated and Santa will have something to give every child. Moving pictures in color will be taken by P. M. Ward, and will be on sale at Hannahs Kodak Shop for anyone with a 16 millimeter projector.

Christmas carols will be broadcast from the Plaza center for a week, each evening, from 5 to 6, beginning tonight (Friday), under the direction of Simpson's Radio Shop.

Mrs. Charles S. Henderson is general chairman in charge of the Christmas facilities; Mrs. Philip Boyd, finances; Dr. John Robertson Macartney and Miss Katherine Finchy, program; Miss Randall and her Girl Scouts have charge of the stockings; Mrs. J. O. Mall, Mr. Esgate, Glenn McKinney and the Boy Scouts, decorations and general order about the tree. In fact everybody has entered in to help the Christmas spirit prevail throughout the community.

The Friendly Aid Committee of which Mrs. Ted Griffith is chairman, Miss Monica Finn, public health nurse, will distribute baskets of food and clothing and toys to the less fortunate families. The school children have all entered into the spirit of "giving" as they have brought large quantities of canned goods to put in the baskets and hundreds of old toys are being rejuvenated in the manual training shop under the direction of Gerald Esgate, while many new toys were added.

Christmas Chimes Just a Little Way Ahead of Today

It is not certain that the warning to "shop early" is not becoming impractical, since there are only seven shopping days left till Christmas. However, by doing one's shopping as early as is possible, this week, the feat will be accomplished reasonably early.

Already the spirit of Christmas is in the air. Christmas trees and wreaths and mistletoe are in evidence. Christmas will be here almost before it is realized the intervening time has elapsed.

Local stores and shops are prepared for heavy holiday buying. In the parlance of Noah Webster, in merchandise, these places of business have everything from A to Z.

Shopping as early as possible in the day will relieve the congestion of the afternoon. Shopping whenever possible in the "off rush" hours will facilitate merchandising and add to the convenience of both merchant and patron.

Rains Insure Wildflower "Show"

Rains of the present week penetrated far into the desert, practically insuring a large "crop" of wild flowers. Previous rains had given the seed life, and only rains at intervals, and lack of hot weather, are needed to bring a wealth of blossoms in the local desert area.

The wildflower "crop" is not the least of Riverside county yields. Its value is not easy to compute in dollars and cents, but is known that motorists on a single week-end, in wildflower season, spend thousands of dollars in sight-seeing between Banning and Palm Springs and in the desert places.

TOURISTS PREFER BLYTHE HIGHWAY INTO CALIFORNIA

The many thousands of people who are coming to California apparently prefer the Blythe route.

Last month all previous records for November were shattered, when 12,027 westbound cars, 1,468 trucks and 196 stages were checked at the Blythe quarantine station.

These motor vehicles brought to California a total of 36,251 passengers. During the same month for 1935, 10,192 westbound cars, a high mark for that time, were checked. The count for November, 1934, totaled 7,464 westbound cars.

The quarantine station inspectors intercepted 520 lots of agricultural contraband, and 281 lots were refused admittance.

December usually is the peak traffic month for the Blythe highway. It is expected that another new record will be made this month.

RIVERSIDE-BEAUMONT ROAD OPENING SLATED

First of the year is expected to mark completion of the new Riverside-Beaumont highway, according to a report received by the engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Grading and road mix surfacing is progressing rapidly on the 11.7-mile section from Box Springs Grade to a point northeast of Moreno. The new alignment will eliminate the old hazardous Moreno Grade and permit a saving of time between Riverside and Beaumont.

HOUSE TRAILER PROBLEM CAUSES SOME CONCERN TO STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

SACRAMENTO—A new highway problem which has developed with the widespread use of house trailers was discussed at Sacramento by state motor vehicle administrators representing 11 western states and British Columbia.

Hope of agreeing upon uniform regulations governing the use of house trailers was expressed by delegates as they compared notes and prepared to return to their home capitals.

During their conference Sunday, the administrators, meeting with Ray Ingels, California director of motor vehicles, who is president of the western division of administrators, spent most of their time discussing automobile caravans and how to regulate them. A committee started drafting a uniform law which may overcome constitutional difficulties and provide the means for all states to set up a definite regulatory program to collect fees or taxes on new cars which are driven from the factories for sale by dealers in the West.

Delegates approved Ingels' recommendation for inaugurating the use of a "certificate of manufacture" in connection with each new car sold.

Under Ingels' plan, each new car would be accompanied by a certificate which would trace the movements of the car from the time it left the factory until it was registered to its first purchaser. This, Ingels believed, would prevent theft of new cars, eliminate "bootlegging," and protect purchasers against fraud.

Administrators also discussed a proposal to fingerprint all automobile drivers, but took no action on the subject.

Christmas at the Community Church

Appropriately celebrating the joyous Natal Day of the Saviour of the World, the musicians and the pastor of the church have arranged uplifting services for next Sunday.

Church yard, auditorium and Sunday school room have been adorned for the occasion. Carolers will go forth Christmas Eve, to invited destinations.

On Sunday two anthems will be rendered, "Joyous Christmas Song," by Francois A. Gevaert; "While, By My Sheep" (17th century hymn), by H. Jungst.

Dr. Macartney's morning sermon is entitled "And When the Angels Were Gone Away."

Those in the Christmas choir are Mrs. Walsh, Miss Helen Warren, Mrs. Sylliasen, Miss Traylor, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Williams, Mr. Honeycutt, Mr. Simonsen, Mrs. Vincent Savory and Mr. Mayo; Mrs. Gottheuet, director and Mrs. Fowler, pianist.

The special Christmas offering will be devoted to the purchase of robes for the choir.

Careful consideration is being given to the type of organ to be installed in the Community church. Specifications have been submitted by half a dozen organ companies. The committee desires to be deliberate and fully satisfied. The organ fund now stands at $704.19. The Hammond electric organ installation will be approximately $1500. A small but efficient pipe organ would cost $1910. The church wishes the entire community to feel that this is their installation, something to be enjoyed by all for years to come.

The week day Bible class will meet for two weeks on Wednesday at 3 p. m., instead of Friday, owing to Christmas and New Year's day.

The Community church desires to extend to all a Merry Christmas.

Christmas of all days is a day of happiness. Happy children laugh and play. Neighbors and friends give cordial greetings. The streets are lined with Christmas trees, and each tree tells of a love that reaches out to all. Wrongs are forgotten. Grievances disappear. The incense of our worship rises like a ribbon of light to the throne of God and again the star leads us on to find our happiness in the gifts at the cradle.

May the Christmas season be a time of wonderful blessing to you all and lead you into a year of renewed Christian service and into ways of prosperity and peace.

3 Transcontinental Air-Lines are Grounded Here

Three Douglas transports of the American Airlines, en route from Newark, N. J., to Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale, were grounded here Tuesday, when low-hanging clouds in San Geronimo Pass and in the vicinity of Los Angeles, prevented them from maintaining schedules.

The daily local transport from Chicago, piloted by Pat Patterson and co-pilot Wm. Cheney, carrying seven passengers and a small amount of express and mail landed at 7:10 a. m. The ship was due in Glendale at 11:46 Monday night, but according to the pilot, he was ordered, on account of weather conditions, to land at Phoenix, and lay over until 6:30 the next morning.

The "Mercury" Flagship California, sleeper, piloted by Howard Woodall and Co-pilot H. F. Bledsoe, arrived at 8:00 a. m., carrying 13 passengers and 400 pounds of express and mail.

The "Southerner," Flagship Arizona, sleeper, due in Glendale at 11:42 a. m., landed here at 12:15 with seven passengers and 500 pounds of express and mail. This ship piloted by L. A. Andrews and Co-pilot Buster Coln, was late after making an extra stop at Tucson when a Cleveland business man was making a hurried trip to the bedside of his son, who was seriously ill.

The passengers, baggage and mail were taken to Glendale by Tanner Motor Livery and new crews and passengers were brought here by cars to take off for the east-bound run. The daily left at 2:15 p. m. for Fort Worth, en route to Chicago with Chas. Maris, pilot and Hewitt Mitchell, co-pilot, and three passengers.

American Airlines mechanics from Grand Central Terminal came to Palm Springs to service the planes before they started eastward.

CAR PLATES TO BE REVERSE COLOR OF 1936 COMBINATION

California automobile license plates for 1937 will be the reverse color combination of the 1936 plates, or orange figures and letters on a black background.

Issuance of the plates will be started January 2.

Every state in the union except Arizona will change plate color combinations for next year. Arizona again will use black on copper.

Nineteen states, the District of Columbia and Alaska will reverse this year's color scheme. The others will change colors entirely. Altogether 27 different shades will go into the manufacture of 1937 plates in the United States and its territories, and in Canada.

Rapid Progress Snow Creek Bridge

Concrete base, reinforced with heavy steel, has been completed for seven of the 10 that will form the foundation for the new concrete bridge that will span Snow Creek six miles northwest of town. On each base will be a set of four concrete piers, also reinforced with steel, and four sets of these piers have been completed.

Construction Foreman George E. Britton was very successful in diverting the exceptionally heavy flow of water early this week which came down Snow Creek as a result of the heavy rainfall in the San Jacinto and San Geronimo mountains, for the earthworks thrown up by the power shovel and bull-dozers kept the water out of the excavations made for the concrete foundations.

Work is now under way building an oiled detour and pontoon bridge across Snow Creek from the north end of the present bridge to the gap at the south end of the Whitewater Point road. As soon as this detour is completed work will begin blasting off the points in order to widen the roadway along Snow Creek.

SUPERVISORS HANDLE ROAD AND OTHER MATTERS

At a meeting of the Riverside county board of supervisors, Monday, two changes were effected in the personnel of the advisory committee of the Riverside County Chamber of Commerce with the appointment of Frank V. Shannon of Palm Springs in place of W. E. Gilman of Gilman's Relief Springs, San Jacinto, and George Thomas of Alford in place of Linus L. Andrews of Corona.

A form of resolution adopting the survey of the projected Palm Springs-Edom road as the definite location of the highway, a distance of eight miles, and approving map to be filed for the approval of the secretary of the interior, was presented for adoption but continued for one week.

The resolution also authorized the chairman of the board to sign an application on behalf of the county for an 80-foot right of way through the Palm Springs Indian reservation. It recites that the street will afford a needed and direct means of communication and travel between Palm Springs and Edom.

The board on Sept. 28, 1931, declared the road from Palm Springs, petitioned for by Robert Ashdon and others, a public highway 80 feet in width. It has been open to the public since that date, and the resolution recites that the public convenience and necessity require the acquisition of a right of way through the Indian lands for a public highway.

Screen Stars To Build Homes

Two prominent motion picture stars purchased lots this week and have engaged architects to draw plans for pre-tentious homes to be built at once. Both lots were sold by the Harold Hicks agency.

Adolphe Menjou purchased the largest lot in Little Tuscany, situated on the top of the hill near Chino Canyon, overlooking the village.

Miss Glenda Farrell also purchased a lot near the mountains overlooking Las Palmas. The deal was made by William J. Cross of the Harold Hicks office.

Guests for the Christmas season at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Robertson Macartney, will be Arthur and Helen Macartney of Long Beach, and Rev. and Mrs. Ernest L. McCartney of Upland.

BREWSTER & BENEDICT DESIGN BEAUTIFUL NEW RESIDENCE

A beautiful new residence is now under construction for Paul Kirschner on Palm Canyon Drive in Las Palmas Estates. The home was designed by Architects Brewster & Benedict.

This architectural firm also drew the plans for an eight-room residence for Walter Kirschner in the Hood Tract. Figures have been called for the construction of this. The extensive home place will include a tennis court and swimming pool. The home will be of the hacienda type in Spanish desert design.

Now being built is the first home in the finely located Little Tuscany tract in the northwest section of the village. This lovely home is in Tuscany type of architecture.

An interesting new residence, plans for which are being drawn by Brewster & Benedict, is that of Albert Kirk of Santa Cruz. In typical Spanish architecture, it is soon to be constructed in Palm Canyon Estates.

Plans also are being prepared for a Spanish hacienda type home in Desert Trails Tract for Hal Forrest, artist for the popular "Tailspin Tommy" comic strip. One of its features will be an interesting studio on the second floor. It will contain about eight rooms.

Southern Pacific Buys Much New Equipment

Bringing its total appropriations for new and modernized cars and locomotives in 1936 to more than $41,000,000, Southern Pacific has authorized new expenditures of over $16,500,000 for the construction and rebuilding of passenger, freight and motive power equipment.

The latest authorization for rolling stock, announced by A. D. McDonald, president of the company, will add 28 new locomotives, 2,725 new freight cars and 41 modern, light weight passenger cars to the service of the public, at a cost of nearly $15,000,000, McDonald stated.

Fourteen of the new locomotives are to be of streamline design for passenger train use, and the passenger cars will include eighteen coaches articulated in two-car units. Freight equipment will take in box cars, automobile cars, gondolas and flat cars.

Air-conditioning and modernization of passenger train equipment, which already has covered all the company's principal trains, will be carried on at a cost of $1,200,000, according to the announcement.

Purchase of the new freight cars and heavy duty locomotives will provide shippers with benefits comparable to those to be enjoyed by travelers on Southern Pacific lines. Transportation of all kinds of freight, including merchandise shipments, is provided for in the latest appropriation, as well as in previous equipment orders this year.

Southern Pacific's major purchases of rolling stock in 1936 started last April when contracts totaling $10,000,000, were let for 2700 refrigerator cars for the Pacific Fruit Express Company, jointly owned with Union Pacific.

Since then Southern Pacific has announced orders for two streamlined trains, costing $2,000,000, to be put in operation between San Francisco and Los Angeles, via the coast line, early in 1937; 18 locomotives, passenger and freight, $2,700,000, and 2950 freight cars, $8,000,000.

Just recently the company made known that it had joined in the construction of a $1,500,000 streamliner, largest and most powerful yet designed, to replace the present "City of San Francisco" on the San Francisco-Chicago run next year. Purchase of 2000 new and reconstruction of 1750 Pacific Fruit Express cars, at a cost of $10,500,000 was announced simultaneously.

In addition to the $41,000,000 for rolling stock, Southern Pacific has appropriated $5,890,000 this year for rails and track accessories alone, and has made substantial investments in other improvements and betterments, it was emphasized.

"These large additions to Southern Pacific equipment indicate our desire to keep pace with and participate in current business recovery," said President McDonald. "They are necessary to provide facilities to meet anticipated needs of shippers and travelers. At the same time, these expenditures in and of themselves constitute a further contribution to recovery and reemployment."

Christmas vacation starts December 19. School will be open on January 4. The teachers, however, have three days of institute at Riverside before they have a rest.

Students are Ready for Christmas

Friday is the big day. Bring your nickels to buy a copy of "High School Hi-Lights," put out by the journalism club of B. U. H. S. News items, jokes, gossip, and many surprise features will be included in the paper. Remember—bring your money tomorrow for the Christmas edition of High School Hi-Lights.

The art tea given Wednesday afternoon was enjoyed by parents and members of the faculty. The work of the art classes was on exhibition. The room was appropriately decorated in Christmas colors.

The girls' P. E. periods are having inter-class basketball games. There are many good players in the three periods, and the championship of the school will be hotly contested.

The Scholarship Society held a business meeting on Friday, Dec. 11, to discuss a tour of the eastern section of the Colorado river aqueduct. The trip will be either Dec. 29 or Dec. 30. The fourth year mathematics class will accompany the group. Miss Thayer, sponsor of the organization, has made the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. J. De Surmont, who have been sojourning at El Mirador, have suddenly been called back to France, where Mr. De Surmont is a prominent political figure.

Southland's Santa Claus

(Following is the last Christmas poem written by the late Robert L. Edwards, poet laureate of Palm Springs, who contributed poems weekly to The Desert Sun for a period of ten years, until his death early this fall. Each Christmas time he served as Santa Claus at the Community Christmas Tree, and this service was one of the greatest joys of his life.)

In the winter in the Northlands
Little children love to hear
Jingling of the merry sleighbells,
Telling Christmastide is near,

For they dream of reindeer drawing
Santa Claus o'er ice and snow,
Bringing toys and wondrous presents
While the chilly breezes blow.

Here, alas, there are no snowflakes,
Save on mountains, towering high—
Only lovely flowers and sunshine,
As the winter months pass by!

But the children of the Southland
Do not lack for Christmas joy,
For some kindly Christmas fairy
Serves each warm-land girl and boy.

No one knows just what her name is,
For she comes from realms above,
But I guess she is the fairy,
Best and queen of fairies, Love.

And dear Santa Claus is only
One of many she sends forth,
To spread wide the Christmas spirit,
East and West and South and North.

So, hang up your Christmas stockings,
Just the same as where it's cold,
And be sure that heavenly fairy
Will bring presents manifold.

All about the world she hovers,
Heals its wounds and guides its play.
May she fill your HEART and stocking
With good cheer on Christmas day.

MILLION DOLLAR INCOMES ARE FEW IN U. S. A.

Payment of income taxes this year has disclosed some interesting facts concerning the wealth of the nation and its distribution. There were 4,094,420 income taxpayers in 1934 and out of that number only 33 had incomes of over a million a year. In 1929 there were 513 with incomes of over a million.

Following the financial crash, the compiled figures disclosed that only 20 had million dollar incomes in 1932, but the following year that number increased to 50.

It is not from this straggling few that the nation derives its greatest financial aid, but instead, it is from the great middle class where professors, actors, ministers, doctors, manufacturers and other brilliant men and women earn from ten to twenty-five thousand dollars yearly. There were almost 103,000 persons in that class in 1934 and there will be far more this year.

In New York there was one man whose annual income in 1934 went above the five million mark and another whose income was between three and four million. In addition to the salaries, commissions, fees, and business profits accounting for the huge incomes, stock dividends formed an important factor in the figures.

President Roosevelt's efforts to distribute the wealth through taxation of huge interests will mean a gradual dissemination of the bulging fortunes and place greater sums of money in the hands of the workers through higher wages and dividends. This will mean greater spending by the working classes, and the money will work back into the hands of the rich again, only to be distributed in the revolving circle of give and take represented in the employer, employee groups.

It has often been said that the wealth of the nation could be distributed equally between every man, woman and child in the United States and within a short time the money would be back in the hands of those who have it at the time of its distribution. Experience in big business makes for a greater wealth consciousness and it would be practically impossible to keep such financiers in comparative poverty. The poorer people would spend rapidly and not always wisely and ultimate dissipation of their gift money would put many of them back in their same dependent class.

Birthday Party For Mrs. Goff

The entire Goff family gathered around the festive board on Wednesday evening to honor the birthday of Mrs. Lillie Goff, and it goes without saying everyone had a very pleasant evening. She received some very beautiful gifts.

Among those present were: E. Dawson, Mrs. Goff's father; Mrs. Zaddie Bunker, Mr. and Mrs. E. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Boots Hayward and daughter, Paula, Chas. Goff, Dawson Goff, Mrs. A. H. Armstrong, Mrs. F. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Owens, Jack Green, Mr. and Mrs. N. Kelly, Mrs. Inez Miller, Jack Davis, R. M. Gorham, Ernie Fors, Cal Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Riley, Richard Landucci, Mrs. Haigh. Mr. and Mrs. Goff greeted their friends of years standing. Mrs. Goff has been in Palm Springs about 18 years, and is one of Palm Springs' successful business women of the hotel world.

35 PCT. DECLINE IN BUSINESS

SUFFERED BY 660 FIRMS IN S. F. Six hundred and sixty San Francisco business firms lost an average of 35 per cent in volume of business transacted since the Pacific coast maritime strike began Oct. 29, the research bureau of the coast committee for shipowners reported.

Thirty per cent of the 1132 business establishments interviewed reported "business as usual." The remainder claimed decreases in revenue.

ability, was master of ceremonies. He introduced the celebrities he was able to call to the stage. There was one all had heard but few had seen, the one and only Pete Smith, who sympathized with the poor millionaires who paid $5.50 a seat to see the show; lovely, petite, brunette Frances Langford, who had to have the microphone lowered so she could sing into it; Allan Jones, the great singer of Show Boat, who would be the big hit in any grand opera; Palm Springs' own Reginald Owen, Frank Morgan, Charlie Hill and Bob Woolsey with his big cigar, all did their stuff, and did it well. Charlie Hill, who has made much music for the stage and screen, demonstrated that he is still as adept as ever, when he showed how the simple tune, "Lazy Bones," is plagiarized from many other more or less familiar melodies.

When that grand old lady of stage and screen, May Robson, told of her 54 years as an actress; and the mother of Palm Springs, Mrs. Nellie Coffman, expressed her greetings, the house responded with mighty applause. A reel of the picture "Camille" was brought to the stage, and as workmen poured a concrete slab, the reel was placed in the center of it, and Mrs. Coffman, Miss Robson, and Louella Parsons wrote their names in the wet concrete. The slab has been placed in the wall of the new theatre near the entrance.

Not all the famous motion picture folk were on the stage. Seen in the foyer were Barbara Stanwyck, Sir Guy Standing, Wendie Barrie, Tyrone Power, Sonia Henie, Charles Butterworth, Virginia Valli, the Earl of Warwick, Edgar Selwyn, Stanlee Barbee, Viscountess Castle-Rosse, Lady Tredegar, Claire Windsor, Johnny Warburton, Arline Judge, Edward Gouling, Amelia Earhart, Paul Mantz, Shirley Temple, Adolphe Menjou, Vera Teasdale, Jeanette MacDonald, Gene Raymond, Hubert Voight, Kitty Gallian, Sally Eilers, Harry Joe Brown, Glenda Farrell, Dorothy Arzner, Irene Hervey, Mrs. Molly McAduo, and many more that this writer cannot call to mind.

Famous writers and photographers from near and far were here to "cover" the event.

Writers from Time Magazine, Fortune, Esquire, Associated Press, United Press, Universal News, and other news agencies were here. Representing the Los Angeles Examiner were Reine Davies, Louella Parsons, Lynn Spencer and Florence Lawrence; from the Herald-Express, Sally Frank Moore, and Harrison Canall; from the Times, Edwin Schallert, Mrs. Juanita Neal Levy, Marshal Lester and Read Kendall.

M-G-M executives gave the premier their personal attention and placed a large staff at the disposal of Manager Earle Strebe. Among the executives, accompanied by their wives, who attended the opening night were Edward Mannix, chief producer and general manager; Bernard Hyman, producer and Irving Thalberg's closest friend; Howard Strickling, director of publicity; Douglas Shearer, brother of Norma Shearer; Frank Witbeck, many times a visitor here; George Hickey, superintendent M-G-M distributing Corporation; Frank Capra and King Vidor, directors.

When we wrote that M-G-M spared no expense to make a great success of the Palm Springs event, one item may be of especial local interest: They prepaid telegraph news stories of the premiere to 265 leading daily newspapers of the nation. The Associated Press and other news agencies sent wire photos to all the leading dailies of the continent. M-G-M had a publicity staff of eight men taking pictures or writing reviews of the event for movie magazines and other publications all over the world. No previous event has ever given Palm Springs more publicity.

Writers interviewed noted people from all parts of the nation who witnessed the premiere and wired their comments and photographs to hometown newspapers. Thus newspapers of nearly all the larger cities as well as several papers of England and France carried telegraph stories of people popular in those vicinities who had seen the world premiere of "Camille" in Palm Springs, California.

News reel camera men were also busy throughout the evening, and their pictures will be shown in theatres throughout the nation.

As the notables arrived each party was announced over a loud speaker system, Cal Pearce being the announcer, with Robert Ransom assisting him in the difficult job—difficult because notable after notable followed in such quick order that it was hard to keep up with the parade.

Newsreel and newspaper cameramen ground and clicked steadily for an hour before the show actually was opened. They snapped busily back stage before and during the dedication program, and then tirelessly trained their lenses as the huge crowd passed again through the roped lane while many hundreds more waited impatiently for their turn and a chance to see the special second show arranged by Earle Strebe.

Thoroughly enjoyable were the short subjects, particularly Pete Smith's latest M-G-M short on "hurling," but their engrossing moments were but an interesting prelude to one of the big spots in the program—the dedication, with its presentation of important people.

Ralph Bellamy took the stage as master of ceremonies and very nicely expressed the keyword of the evening. He said, "It is my pleasure to be the first to congratulate Palm Springs and Earle Strebe on this beautiful new theatre." He asserted that it was "significant of the ever increasing importance of Palm Springs as a growing resort and playground that the 'world premiere' of such a picture of importance as 'Camille' should be held here." And in behalf of Mr. Strebe and Palm Springs he expressed thanks to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and its officials for "letting us have this picture tonight."

He first introduced "four important Palm Springs people." They were Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman, Miss Louella Parsons, Miss May Robson and Earle Strebe.

Mrs. Nellie Coffman, first to be introduced by Mr. Bellamy, said, "I wish to express, in behalf of the people of Palm Springs, our appreciation to the builders, owners and manager of this lovely theatre. I know that it means a great deal in this busy world of ours today to relax and find peace from worries and cares and that is what such places as this theatre enable us to do. I am glad you are here and I am here."

"My only wish is that Mr. Strebe and this beautiful theatre enjoy the same good luck I had eleven years ago when I won back my health in Palm Springs," said Miss Louella Parsons, prominent movie writer. She expressed her appreciation for the friendship and aid of Mrs. Coffman, also, and pointed out that if "Camille" could have known Mrs. Coffman and Palm Springs "she would have lived," rather than died tragically as she did in the movie drama.

Manager Earle Strebe made the shortest and most impressive speech of the evening as he responded to the congratulations and best wishes of the others in these few simple words, "I thank you from the bottom of my heart," and everyone knew Earle meant every word of it. His success in the theatrical world is due to his foresight and hard work, and through it all he has remained the same modest, sincere young man.

The picture, "Camille," was everything, and more, claimed for it. It was truly a master production. Many who had seen it as a stage play declared that the great Nernhardt and whoever it was played opposite her did not excel Garbo and Taylor. George Cukor, the director should be proud of the production.

Lionel Barrymore as Mons. Duval, the father of young Armand, and Henry Daniel as the Baron de Varville, were exceptionally well cast. Elizabeth Allan, Jessie Ralph, Laura Hope Crews and Lenore Ulric were the feminine leads, and did excellent work.

One of the big hits of the evening was the Pete Smith short, "Hurling," especially so because the audience had an opportunity to see and hear Pete Smith himself before the picture was projected on the screen.

The thing that made the pictures so realistic was not only the newest type of projecting equipment, but the last word in sound, the marvelous new Microphonic Sound System perfected by Western Electric. High notes and low notes were equally clear, and one could actually distinguish the various instruments in the orchestrations, which are usually submerged in the ensemble by the louder instruments. It is probably just a matter of time until all theatres will have to install sound equipment of such a type.

Billy Leyser, director of public relations for Electrical Research Products, Inc., which installed the sound system, was here Friday and Saturday, and attended the premiere. Billy is a former newspaper man, having had wide experience on metropolitan dailies.

Thoughts on Things

Harvey Johnson

Former King Edward is reported as being depressed and disconsolate in Austria where he has taken a retreat for the time being. He is reported to be engaged, and so he ought to be happy. Some local boys, engaged to be married, are looking upon the world through rose-colored glasses, and from the front seat of a good used car.

The ex-king is reported to be short of money. Don't believe all you read in the metropolitan papers. Edward can no doubt rustle some English coin or francs in emergency. He comes from rich, but respectable folks.

Mrs. Simpson went a-holiday shopping in France, and there was a vociferous welcome which bordered on a riot. The mayor thereupon sent Mrs. Simpson a nice bouquet by way of apology. Mrs. Mayor will be checking up on the old man if he doesn't watch out.

Observers say the reason Finlanders are honest about paying their debts lies in the fact that they are great fish-eaters. Let's pass the fish to some other European countries.

Pope Pius yesterday was very feeble. He is an old man looking to the last sunset. His service to humanity has been praiseworthy in many ways, and his plea for world peace throughout the years will stand as a glorious monument to his memory whenever he may be called to his reward.

Realtors around Ontario protest the proposed establishing of the new California state prison near that city. The powers-that-be state the inmates will be the mild type; so why protest? No doubt many of the prisoners looking out from the inside will be not much worse than some of the folks outside looking inside.

President Roosevelt has returned to Washington from his South American goodwill tour. He was a real emissary of goodwill and the Latin American countries have a warmer spot in their hearts for Uncle Sam by reason of the President's visit.

Christmas shopping for many will be a struggle in spite of many admonitions to "shop early."

Wonder what Wally is going to get in her stocking for Christmas?

GOATS' APPETITES

In the good old days at Palm Springs billy and nanny goats roamed the town at will. An innocent housewife would have her laundry out on the line at night and by morning many of the socks and underthings were missing. The goats got 'em. By a strange coincidence local goats would eat one sock and leave the other hanging. Stray burros would finish up, sometimes, whatever the goats left.

Local goat history is recalled by a story flashed from Bay Shore, Long Island, yesterday. It says:

"Mrs. B. A. Hartland lost a good broom, Mr. Hartland lost two good shirts, and State Trooper Clarence Sullivan lost his temper, but the tan billy-goat of particularly dissipated look and sardonic eye that caused the trouble sighed contentedly.

"Mrs. Hartland found the goat munching on her husband's shirts after she put them on a clothes line. She grabbed a broom. The goat displayed a hostile attitude. Mrs. Hartland dropped the broom and ran. The goat finished the shirts, and ate the broom for dessert.

"Trooper Sullivan loaded the animal into a police car, delivered it safely to the rear yard of his headquarters and tied it to a tree. The rope was too long. Sullivan discovered that when he went to look at his spare tire. The cover had disappeared. The goat was eating it."

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Basinger and Elton Basinger of Highland Park were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Basinger in this city over the week-end.

Mrs. Myrtle Hoffman is a guest at the Reid hospital and clinic.

Attractive New Offices for Cree

One of the most interesting and unique offices in Palm Springs has just been completed for Raymond Cree and his associates. The entire building in which his offices have been located since the beginning of the season, opposite the Desert Inn Art Gallery, has been converted into an elaborate suite, with two apartments in the rear, one for Mr. Cree and the other for Mr. and Mrs. Suydam. Mr. Suydam is a photographer associated with Stephen Willard, and Mrs. Suydam is Mr. Cree's secretary.

Mr. Cree's private office is partitioned from the main office with frosted glass. It is elegantly furnished with chrome steel furniture, the chairs being of red and blue leather, and the table tops red and black. The walls are white and the floor is covered with blue inlaid linoleum with an inlaid white stripe all around about a foot from the edge. The office is well lighted from a skylight.

Additional offices are being furnished for draughtsmen and filing purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Richardson, of Vancouver, B. C., have been recent guests of Mrs. Greta Gould Welsh, of the Shop of Charm in the Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Matheson are visiting here from Vancouver, B. C. They enjoyed renewing an old acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Welsh of the Shop of Charm.

BRANCH OFFICE FOR STATE MOTOR DEPT. LOCATED AT BANNING

A branch office of the State Motor Vehicle department will be established at Banning.

Carl D. Dodson, manager of the San Bernardino office of the Division of Registration, Department of Motor Vehicles, was in Banning Friday and approved the location of the council chamber to be used for the office of department of registration for automobile renewal licenses.

Through the efforts of Senator John Phillips, this office was obtained for Banning, for the period beginning January 2, to February 4.

This service will save considerable time and money to local residents.

Heretofore it was necessary to go to San Bernardino if one had business to transact with a branch office.

Territory to be served from this office will include Banning and contiguous territory, Beaumont, Palm Springs, Coachella Valley 29 Palms, Whitewater, etc.

Parents who allow children to extend parts of their bodies out of moving vehicles are creating a distinct traffic menace, and members of the California Highway Patrol have been instructed to stop this practice, E. Raymond Cato, chief, announced today.

Numerous cases of children waving arms and legs from open windows, or holding out handkerchiefs, to see them flutter, have been reported as causing accidents, Cato declared.

"When children are passengers in moving motor vehicles," the patrol chief said, "they should not be allowed to reach or lean out of the windows. The danger to children is real and following motorists are confused."

EL MIRADOR

Among the guests down for the week-end at El Mirador were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dodge and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Carney of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Earl and their daughter were in, too, from their Corona ranch. Miss Ruth Kammerdiner brought her huge police dog for entry in the Dog Show.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanlee Barbee, who are preparing to move into their new home in Beverly Hills and expect to return to El Mirador after Christmas, were among the many hundreds at the harness races, Mr. Barbee driving a visky in one of the events.

Viscountess Castle-Ross, Mrs. Richard Hoffman, Lady Tredagar and Mrs. S. K. Lathrop attended the opening of "Camille," dressed in their finest gowns. They were among those greatly interested in the exhibits at the Dog Show on Sunday.

Among guests at El Mirador were Jeanette MacDonald and her mother, Mrs. Anna MacDonald, and Miss MacDonald's fiancé, Gene Raymond. Miss MacDonald entered two of her dogs at the annual Dog Show, her Bedleyham terrier winning a first place.

Miss Yvonne Beatie, also, was a guest of this hostelry. A prominent society miss of El Monte, she brought her Sealym here for the local showing.

The guest list for the week-end also included Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCann of Bel Air. They exhibited their Great Dane at the show. Mr. McCann is a former student at U. C. L. A., and a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and has been quite active in the polo playing group at Los Angeles. Mrs. McCann is the former Miss Mary Ellen Ferman.

Opening Races at Santa Anita Track, Christmas Day

Horsemen and their stable forces alone, attracted to Santa Anita Park to participate in the racing season, opening Christmas day and running until March 6, will spend through Southern California business channels in excess of $1,000,000, according to estimates made by the Los Angeles Turf Club.

It represents actual maintenance expenditures and local purchases by the horsemen and their families, and does not include the vast amounts put into circulation by the thousands of racing enthusiasts attracted here from all parts of the globe.

Horsemen, particularly those connected with the leading stables accepted for a meeting of Santa Anita's standard, have a reputation for buying the best. The Los Angeles Turf Club cites that its averages and estimates are conservative and will be exceeded. Registrations of the California Horse Racing Board for last season are taken for the basis of the figures, and the meeting, counting the Sunday and Monday off-days and the training season, is set at 80 days.

The expenditures are listed as follows:

	Per Day	Season
400 owners (there were 409 last year) wives and relatives on badge list averages 3 persons each at estimated $6.00 per day	$ 7,200	$ 576,000
250 trainers (not counting 25% on owners' list) Average two each at estimated $5.00 per day	2,500	200,000
110 jockeys, estimated at $4.00 per day	440	35,200
240 exercise boys at $1.00	240	19,200
700 groomers at $1.00	700	56,000
120 valets, agents, misc., at $2.00	240	19,200
1325 horses, consuming average 7 to 10 quarts of oats, 15 lbs. hay, 1-3 bale of straw, several bunches of carrots, shoeing, medicine, etc. (all bought locally) averages $1.00 per day	1,325	106,000
Total	$12,645	$1,011,600

The fact that there will be no racing on Mondays, as well as Sundays, will give these visiting horsemen opportunities to take in shops and points of interest.

Economic Highlights

"Only those who have followed the sad record of the relations between the United States and the governments of the countries to the south of us can really appreciate the epochal change that President Roosevelt has brought to the inter-American scene."

So wrote David Lawrence—one of the President's severest critics so far as domestic policy is concerned—in the United States News of November 30.

About all the average citizen knows about U. S. foreign policy as related to the other countries in this hemisphere is that it is governed by something celebrated and vague called the Monroe Doctrine. Probably not one citizen in fifty could accurately tell you what the Monroe Doctrine provides. And probably not one citizen in a hundred realizes that the Doctrine has been virtually a dead letter for several years and, as well, has caused a vast amount of unfriendly feeling toward this country in the Republics to the south.

Briefly and roughly described, the Monroe Doctrine meant that the United States would not permit any European government to take over territory in Latin America—that the U. S. would act as a "Big Brother" in protecting Latin American territorial rights as well as its own. This seemed fair enough—but the Doctrine had not been in effect for long before discord arose. More than a century ago, Brazil requested that the Doctrine, in David Lawrence's words, "be made international, that it become a sort of offensive and defensive alliance in which all Latin countries should join with the United States in keeping European armies and navies out of this part of the world. . . ." That request was refused, as were similar requests made periodically in later years.

Consequently, the Latin Republics came to feel, rightly or wrongly, that the U. S. was taking advantage of the Doctrine to rule their countries. This feeling was strengthened by sending U. S. Marines south whenever trouble appeared in a Latin American nation.

There are no Marines in Latin America now—and it seems doubtful if any will be sent there again. It is a curious fact that both Hoover and Roosevelt took the initiative in withdrawing the last of these agents of what Latin America considered "U. S. Imperialism." No longer does Washington take the position that it will back up any foreign ventures of American citizens with armed force if necessary. Our citizens now travel in Latin America at their own risk, and are subject to the laws of the countries where they go. Diplomacy will be used to help them in difficulties—but not force. In other words, their status is exactly the same as if traveling in England, France and other European countries.

What is the result of all this? In the eyes of many American observers, the result will be a genuine feeling of friendliness for us on the part of the Republics to the south—and there are signs that such a feeling is now developing, though much suspicion remains. There is also the hope that dormant trade will be revived, and that by example the Western hemisphere will show the world how nations can live without war, settling differences by amicable conferences. Furthermore, it is hoped that treaties will be effected whereby European powers wishing war materials will find the raw material markets of North and South America—the greatest in the world—firmly closed to them.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech at the recent Pan-American conference is generally considered one of the best he has ever made—he handled a delicate task well. Credit for the groundwork is given to Secretary Hull, who has spent his public life working quietly for peace, and for better commercial and diplomatic relations between powers.

Business Week has published an interesting chart showing the business record state by state—comparing the first nine months of 1936 to the same period last year.

Biggest improvement in passenger motor car sales—38 per cent—occurred in the Pacific coast states, with the Mountain group running a close second with 35 per cent. In commercial car sales, however, the East South Central states were first, up 37 per cent, with second place shared by the East North Central and West South Central states—which showed an advance of 31 per cent each.

The Middle Atlantic commonwealths led by far in heavy construction, with an improvement of 121 per cent. Second was the East South Central group, advancing 81 per cent. Biggest gain in electric power out-

ALPHA THETA PHI SORORITY AT DESERT INN

The Alpha Theta Phi sorority of the University of Redlands gave a "rush party," sponsored by the alumni, at the Desert Inn last Saturday. The girls came at noon and had a grilled luncheon served at the mountain ramada.

After a stroll around the grounds and a swim in the pool, tea was served in the card room.

Those present were: Miss Grace Jenkins, Mary Meyers, Sylvia Payne, Roberta Thompson, Ethel Mae Van Dyke, Jeanette Moffat, Mary Francelle Archer, Betty Burkit, Midge Lyon, Julia Ann Hansen, Marjorie Dickson, Helen Arth, Margaret Morris, Ruth Gail Hill, Delphine Fowler, Eleanor Gage, Midge Garnsey, Betty Sewall, Edith Goldworthy, Sydney Winters, Lois Fitzgibbon, Gwendolyn Matter, Lucille Laskey, Frances Detwiler, Betty Bassett, Alice Britain, Margaret Dudley, June Hinkley, Yvonne Gardiner, Doris Black, Clara Hamilton, Mrs. Mary Ducker Smith and Mrs. Thelma Jones. Miss Edith Hill and Miss Cartidge were patronesses.

ASSISTANT U. S. ATTORNEY GENERAL IS GUEST HERE

Among the notables at Palm Springs are Joseph R. Jackson, assistant attorney general of the United States, and Albert Barnes, prominent corporation attorney of New York City. They are accompanied by their wives and are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Colburn at their home in Araby.

THE TOWN HOUSE

The Town House has a number of important guests this week including Arline Judge, movie star; Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Talbot of Rochester, New York; Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS IS EXCEEDING LAST SEASON

Sale of Christmas seals for the benefit of the Riverside County Health and Tuberculosis association exceeds that of 1935 by more than $700, Catherine Foster, in charge, reported Tuesday.

The total sales to date amount to $2728.99. With Christmas yet seven days off it is believed the total sales will pass the $3500 mark.

NO DUELING

What a disappointment it must be to some of the new state legislators to learn that before taking their seats they must swear not to engage in the pastime of dueling. Would they have sought office had they known such restrictions were to be imposed upon them?—Spartanburg Herald.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

The President is being advised to use a blue pencil on budget estimates, in order to save on red ink. —Omaha World-Herald.

A beautiful Bermuda type home for Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Hicks in Las Palmas Estates will be under construction soon. Architects Brewster and Benedict are now preparing drawings for the residence. It will contain three bedrooms and three baths, a study, library, living room, dining room, sun room and other attractive features. The home will be constructed of the new type, 12-inch by 24-inch hollow tile.

SPEEDY OUTBOARD CRAFT WILL RACE OVER SALTAN SEA

Speedy outboard racing craft will skip and slither over the Salton sea in an effort to break national records January 24.

A meet at the Salton sea of the Southern California Outboard association is planned on that day and officials state that from 14 to 20 of the West's fastest boats are now, or are expected to be entered in the competitions.

Among those who have indicated their intentions of driving the tiny speedsters are Harry Vogt, national class F champion, Worth Goggeman and Mrs. Ruth Herring, present holder of the class A mile straightaway record. She anticipates that favorable conditions on the Salton sea course will permit her to better her own record of 49.5 miles per hour.

Jerry Eckland, husky lad who formerly played tackle position on the University of Michigan gridiron squad and more recently was connected with the Flamingo Polo Club at Miami Beach, Florida, is the new swimming instructor at Del Tahquitz Hotel.

Christmas Seal Sales Prevent Tuberculosis

(Contributed)

Correcting a belief that has long held sway, Dr. Chesley Bush of Livermore, a director of the California Tuberculosis association, which is now conducting its 30th annual Christmas Seal sale campaign, pointed out that a change of climate is unnecessary in curing tuberculosis. Dr. Bush stated:

"There was a time when change of climate was almost always recommended for tuberculosis. Physicians once thought that dry air, or mountain air, or warm air, or cold air was better than some other kind of air. "This belief grew up because the first sanatoria for the care of the tuberculous were established usually in the mountains and other places far from cities. Little was then known about the treatment of tuberculosis and the cures which were affected were credited to the climate and not as they should have been, to the rest treatment and careful medical supervision which was given the patients.

"With advancing knowledge, medical opinion has changed. We no longer believe that climate will cure tuberculosis. We ask ourselves where treatment of the right kind, within the means of the patient, can be obtained. A child or an aged person is seldom sent far away. A young man or woman may be advised to go away, if there is some good reason for it. The most important thing in all cases is good medical and nursing care, usually in a sanatorium, no matter what the climate is.

"There are unusual cases, one in a hundred perhaps, when change of climate is actually needed, most often to avoid hot weather. Cold weather is usually desirable, but proper treatment is the first prerequisite.

"Good medical care can now usually be found near home, although 20 years ago one often had to go to a resort to find tuberculosis specialists. Skillful doctors and nurses and good sanatoria can now be found in practically every state in the Union and in every county in California. As far as the climate is concerned, no state has found it necessary to go outside its borders to locate sanatoria.

"Proper treatment, consisting of rest, good food and fresh air, is, in nearly every case, all that is needed to affect cure, provided treatment is started early in the course of the disease.

"California now has sufficient beds in all but a few counties for the care of its tuberculosis patients, as well as adequate medical, nursing, laboratory and other facilities for their treatment. What is needed is the early discovery of cases. At the present time, more than 50 per cent of all patients entering tuberculosis institutions in California are in the far advanced stages of the disease, and half of this number die in the institutions, because they were brought to cure too late.

"The tuberculin test and X-ray surveys of school groups now being conducted by the three score tuberculosis associations throughout the state, are one of the most effective methods by which cases can be discovered in their early stages. By these methods disease can be discovered long before physical symptoms would reveal its presence, and long before it could be discovered through the ordinary physical examination. Such tuberculin test and X-ray surveys should be extended not only to all schools throughout the state, but to many business and industrial groups, if we are to bring all cases of tuberculosis to treatment in the early stages, when treatment is least costly and more sure of success."

LOS ANGELES MAY EXCEED 1,500,000

A new 4,383-page city director was distributed at Los Angeles this week—together with a new estimate of the city's population growth.

The directory contains 720,834 names—highest in history. Multiplied by 2½, a number representing children and others unlisted, the figure indicates a city population of 1,531,764. The figure was considerably higher than the 1,298,375 disclosed in an unofficial census last July.

Banning Union High's varsity basketball team played a practice game with Riverside High Tuesday afternoon at Riverside. The score was 33 to 24 in Riverside's favor. The boys planning for B. U. H. S. were Charles Weaver, Roger Manwaring, Rupert Hinkle, Gene Burson, Theodore McKinney, and Ralph Troutt.

Light Infestation Of Pine Bark Beetles

The infestation of pine bark beetles in the forests of the San Jacinto mountains is vastly lighter than at first feared, with only 80 infected trees found in an area extending from Vista Grande on the north to Thomas mountain on the south, it was announced by Ed Nelander, district state ranger with headquarters at Riverside.

Rangers under Mr. Nelander's supervision have virtually completed the extensive survey and are nearly ready for the launching of the actual eradication program which is to be carried out with the aid of CCC recruits. The state ranger was placed in work of the survey and control work recently at a meeting of representatives of the Federal and State Forest services and the San Jacinto State Mountain Park association.

Youth of the CCC camps will cut down the infested trees, strip off and burn the bark and cut up the trees for cord wood. The pine beetles winter over in the bark of the trees, swarming to a new tree at the advent of spring. Control work is most effective at this period of the year, Mr. Nelander said.

No traces of the pest have been found in the higher elevations of the San Jacinto State Mountain Park which extends back of Mt. San Jacinto, the state ranger said.

Charles Van Fleet, state ranger stationed at San Jacinto, and A. J. Bomberger, entomologist of the Federal Department of Agriculture, have worked together in the extensive survey through the mountains.

Mr. Nelander estimates that two months will be required for the CCC boys to fell the trees, peel them and burn the bark to destroy the larvae and dormant beetles hiding in the bark.

The state ranger said it is a comparatively easy task to locate infected trees at this time of the year as the foliage has turned from green to a reddish color because of the pest.

The control program was started at the instance of the San Jacinto Mountain Chamber of Commerce, located at Idyllwild.

29 PALMS MEN FIND INDIAN WAR POINTS

Interesting two-day week-end motor trip was that taken by Walt Godwin and Johnny Powell last Saturday and Sunday, when they explored an out-of-the-way section of Death Valley on the Nevada side.

The men found several hundred broken arrowheads and possibly 50 "perfect" specimens at an old Indian camp site in the valley.

Mr. Godwin, an authority on Indian lore and a collector of Indian relics, said the points they found were undoubtedly ancient instruments of warfare. The site overlooked a point traveled by emigrant wagon-trains in the early days of California settlement, he said.

Godwin now has virtually a museum of specimens and Indian relics he has gathered over a period of years.—The Desert Trail.

"Discovery of the Unexpected"

America can look forward to greater achievements in the field of science, agriculture and industry, in the next 25 years, than were accomplished in the last 100, was the statement of Dr. John Robertson Macartney in his address before the County Chamber of Commerce at the Desert Inn Tuesday, Dec. 8. He contended that millions of acres now unused will be utilized to grow raw materials for industry.

The subject of his most interesting address was "The Discovery of the Unexpected." Dr. Macartney, who is the pastor of the Palm Springs Community Church, gave a number of striking examples of unexpected discoveries by men who set out to accomplish one thing, but achieved another much greater than was anticipated.

He reminded his hearers of Christopher Columbus, who set out to find a short route to the East Indies, but discovered a new land that has developed into nations of fabulous wealth and unsurpassed culture, Cecil Rhodes, who went to South Africa to regain his health, but returned to England with visions of a great British Empire in the dark continent and lived to see that dream accomplished; Lindbergh, who alone was the first to fly the Atlantic, and as a result became the good-will ambassador of America to many foreign lands; Crocker, the great San Francisco banker and railway magnate, who was kicked off a precipice by a vicious mule, and in his tumble down the mountainside grabbed a handful of grass which uncovered a rich ledge of gold that became the basis of the huge Crocker wealth; Russell Conwell, who spent years preparing lectures that were comparatively uninteresting and drew small crowds, but became world famous with his simple tale of the Arab farmer who left his farm to find diamonds in some river flowing in a bed of white sand and committed suicide after years of unsuccessful search, whereas the farmer who bought his land found literally "acres of diamonds" on the same land the other had failed to investigate—all unexpected discoveries.

"Now, the Discovery of the Unexpected," said Dr. Macartney, "lies before every one of us. I do not say there are continents yet to be discovered. For all who are alert and having eyes to see, and use them, products into industry, $50,000,000 has been invested throughout the country in chemurgic projects. The farm chemurgists envision displacing eventually thousands of tons of raw materials, now drawn annually from the mineral and forest kingdom, by a like amount of farm products derived from the vegetable kingdom.

"Recently it was my privilege to visit the site of that greatest of all dams, three times the size of the Boulder Dam, up in the state of Washington. It is known as the Grand Coulee Dam. There are 1,250,000 acres of fertile land, now barren because waterless, which will be brought under that dam. No, they do not intend to plant apple trees, nor any of those farm products of which there is already a surplus and a drug on the market, but plants that will be used in industry. Certain types of vegetable will be brought. The roots will be used for one thing, the tops for another, and the fibers extracted and twine and cloth made out of them.

"The Jerusalem artichoke is a weed common to North America. They have discovered that you can make a sugar out of it that is better than cane or beet sugar. We also know that the same kind of sugar can be raised from dahlias.

"The soy bean is another crop which will be divided into many subdivisions. Innumerable things are now made out of soy bean plastics. Not only your uppers and lowers, but your telephone receivers, the knobs on your radios, the steering wheel on your automobile, nearly all the instrument board on your car. Be it known that Henry Ford has announced that he will need 61,500 acres to meet his requirements in the year 1936 for paints, plastics, and other fixtures on his cars. Henry Ford proposes to grow automobiles on farms!

"Be it known that Illinois farmers alone last year planted 1,500,000 acres of soy beans. This 5,000-year-old lowly but newly-discovered farm product, has entered into society. Not only is it used for cattle food, or for raising babies, it is used to provide fuel operating Diesel motors. It might be of interest to you gentlemen to know, that 26,000,000 gallons of cutting oil were used in Detroit and surrounding area every year. Soy bean oil is superior for this.

"Five years ago, a soy bean enthusiast at the University of Illinois at Urbana, combed this country and Canada to compile a list of commercial products actually on the market in which they used the soy bean. He gathered together a list of about 100; today that list numbers more than 300 and the ball seems just beginning to roll. It is used in the automobile industry, bakers, brewers, confectioners, druggists, dynamite manufacturers, food factories, furniture and foundry men, insecticide folks, millers, oleomargarine makers, lubricant and linoleum concerns, lumbermen, paint people, printers, the rubber goods industry, soap workers, tanners, textile mills, varnish plants waterproof wall-paper mills etc.

"Up in the states of Washington and Oregon this past year, five new plywood factories were built. This expansion is due to the fact that glue, made from the soy-bean, possesses superior water-resisting properties. At Ames Agricultural College in Iowa, they are making gasoline from the soy bean; forty gallons of soy bean oil, produces 25 gallons of calcium soda, 33 pounds of glycerine, and 480 cubic feet of a combustible gas. Joy has been brought to machinists who have discovered that castings dipped in the inexpensive soy bean oil remain bright and shining, even after long storage in the open. The question I raise, is 'why go to Manchuko for our soy beans?'

"What I'm saying is that presently the mechanical stomach of America will demand as much farm products as now does the human and animal stomach. We are just entering into the Discovery of the Unexpected.

"We are far from through. The next twenty-five years in America will surpass the last 100 in development of this country and will far exceed that which has been recorded in history up to this date. And the last 100 years were in no sense pikers in this regard. When you stop to consider that for 160 years the nations of the world which were hoary with age and experience attempted to colonize this country, and didn't get to first base and when you contemplate the last 60 years, you get a picture of the dynamic force of American civilization that reaches far beyond any obstacle that may be placed in its path.

At the end of the first 160 years there are discoveries to be made. In the field of science, the unknown is far greater than the known. Medicine is just in its infancy; discoveries are to be made that will prove blessings to suffering mankind.

"The other day a thousand banqueters in Washington listened by radio from an air-liner, the name of the twelve ranking inventors of the century, they were Robert Fulton, the steamboat; F. B. Morse, the telegraph; Eli Whitney, the cotton gin; Charles Goodyear, vulcanized rubber; Cyrus Hall McCormick, the grain reaper; George Westinghouse, the air brake; Thomas Alva Edison, the electric lamp, phonograph, motion pictures and many other devices; Elias Howe, sewing machine; Alexander Graham Bell, the telephone; Ottmer Mergenthaler, the linotype; Charles Martin Hall, process for making cheap aluminum; Wilbur Wright, co-inventor with his brother of the airplane."

"Riverside County has an area greater than Maryland and Connecticut combined, containing almost every variety of land, water and climatic conditions. Health conditions are unsurpassed in both variety and excellence. Probably no county in the state has a wider range of agricultural possibilities, from the Salton Sea, 250 feet below sea level, to San Jacinto, 11,000 feet above. This county and especially the Coachella Valley seems to be the testing ground of the nation, there are now many strange fruits and plants being tested, which may adjust themselves to our conditions, and in the years to come, add valuable products to the farm. Here was the early home of citrus culture and now there are 20,000 acres devoted to citrus, calling for its attendant complement of packing houses and accompanying industries. The ever-expanding population of the cities of Southern California furnishes a splendid market for every sort of farm product.

"Take the realm of Cremurgy. On November 18th, last, California business and agricultural leaders met in San Francisco under the leadership of the State Chamber of Commerce, to form a California section of the National Chemurgic Conference. The object of these chemurgic movements is to absorb the surplus agricultural we had the English nation, with a handful of colonies on the east coast, Spain controlled the Gulf, Florida, Mexico, Arizona and California; France, held the rivers of Missouri and Mississippi and their tributaries and trade boundaries; Russia had a speck in the far north; and then all of a sudden these eastern colonies decided they would revolt and set up a government of their own. Half of them were against it and the other half doubted if it could be done, yet after 8 years, it was brought into being and then, very shortly after, this nation got under way.

"Within the last one hundred years 86 of the major inventions of the world were brought into being right here in America—the America of which you and I are a part.

"One hundred and eight years ago there were only 9 miles of railroad in these United States. Today there are 240,743 miles of lines, not counting double-track, and bearing one-half the tonnage of the world.

"One hundred years ago the telegraph was not invented, today there are over 2,000,000 miles of telegraph wires in this country and you can send a message from any hamlet.

"Sixty years ago the telephone was not invented, now there are more than 16,111,000 in use in the United States—62% of the usage of the telephone of the entire world.

"Forty years ago there were only four registered automobiles in the United States. Not a single factory was devoted exclusively to their manufacture and there was not a distributor in the entire nation—and not a filling station. Today, there are more than 28,000,000 automobiles on the highways of America and they knock down and kill 93 persons every day and injure 114 every hour. The outstanding factories of the world are making automobiles. There are 40,000 auto distributors in the United States and filling stations, well, they are as thick as hops.

"Thirty-two years ago a man by the name of Wright, in an Ohio city kept an aeroplane in the air for four minutes. The world marveled at the achievement, and today brave women fly across the ocean, single-handed and alone. The air over yonder is black with bombers. You can breakfast in New York and take late lunch in San Francisco; and they tell us that presently the Atlantic will be spanned in 24 hours.

"Twenty-five years ago we had not heard of Ghandhi, or Mussolini, or Hitler, or a Soviet, or a Nazi; we hadn't heard of Lindbergh or Einstein, vitamins were not in the diet, nor calories, nor reducing diet; the electron had not been isolated; we had not heard of talking machines, New Deals, boondoggling, or brain trusters. We have gone far and fast—not always in a good direction. And this is the country that a lot of people want to sell short, and a lot of people want to exchange for the bewhiskered and tyrannical-ruled and dictated-to Soviet of a Stalin or a Fascism or a Mussolini.

"You men, and men like you, hold the hand that will save America. There is no imagining all that we will hear of in the next 25 years. All this has been done by a young nation, that has raised itself to be the greatest financial power in the world in less than 100 years; a nation so large and so strong that it financed the greatest catastrophe that the world has even seen and for which it has not been paid—and yet we are still living. And if we would furnish the money again, another slaughter would start over there tomorrow. I tell you, we are in the dawn of the greatest cycle that this nation has ever seen and all the accomplishments of the last 100 years will fade into insignificance before those of the next 100.

"The most important thing of all has been forgotten. We spend our time talking about what will happen to money, we worry about what will happen to individuals. We are justly aroused about what may happen to American institutions. I am saying to you—it is time we talked about what is happening to you and me. Because what happens to us as individuals will happen to these things that interest the nation so much today. There must be a rebuilding of those things that make an individual strong. Those of our youngsters who are still coming on up the ladder, will not be strong citizens unless they are brought through the same processes—the school of hard knocks, the discipline of economy, the rewards of energy, self-denial and industry. The compensations that come to a man who keeps himself clean and honest, and straight and decent—those elements that made our country in the beginning and throughout all the succeeding years the outstanding nation of the world, the bedrock of something worthwhile must be planted in our souls."

Then Dr. Macartney called attention to the untouched wealth of Riverside county and the rest of Southern California. The Colorado River aqueduct which crosses the entire length of the county, Boulder Dam that will supply cheap electric energy for homes, farms and factories, the All-American Canal that will irrigate thousands of additional acres in the Coachella and Imperial Valleys.

New Dude Ranch In Whitewater Canyon

A new type of dude ranch, named the Desert View Ranch, has opened near here, in Whitewater Canyon, which is a veritable sport lover's paradise. Among the many entertainment features are horseback riding, swimming, hiking and cowboy entertainers.

While Desert View Ranch will not have its official opening until Christmas week, the owners entertained a few guests this past week-end, among whom were Baroness Margaret Mathieu of Beverly Hills, Mrs. Snively of Westwood; Mrs. Hicks of Chatsworth, California, Robert Cox, Dallas, Texas, John Carroll and mother of Hollywood.

Mr. Saunders, the manager, reports a number from the picture colony have made reservations during the week of Christmas and New Years.

Lake Mead Vast Recreational Center

Visitors will be able to see the natural and man-made wonders of the new Boulder dam recreational area on foot, horseback, by boat, automobile and airplane, and may spend either a few hours or a number of weeks resting comfortably or participating enthusiastically in varied recreational activities in the area, if the national park service's long-range development program is carried out.

There may be dude ranches, floating swimming barges, sandy bathing beaches, desert gardens, tennis courts, swimming pools, amphibian planes taking off and landing on Lake Mead, boat trips into the lower reaches of the Grand Canyon, visits to the Valley of Fire, foot trails to walk, bridle paths to ride, game fishing, observation lookouts, picnic grounds, museums housing prehistoric relics, but they will not be allowed to detract from the natural beauty and character of the area, large parts of which have been seen by few men.

The national park service is planning the recreational features of the area under an inter-bureau agreement with the reclamation service, which holds title to the Boulder dam reservation, and has supervision over the dam and Boulder City. The service has drafted plans extending 20, 30, 50 years into the future for this entirely new type of project and is keeping in mind the fact that the area is not being considered as a national park but as an intensive development for the use of extensive recreational and educational facilities around a monumental reclamation reservoir in an area of great scientific and scenic interest.

The general plans have been referred for study to the secretary of the interior by the director of the national park service.

The great dam and the artificial lake, looking like a giant mirage in the barren land, will always be the center of recreational as well as reclamation interest, but there are many other points nearby worth visiting. Some have been selected for immediate development, others for future development if the number of visitors increases, and all are to be welded into a comprehensive and coherent program of three principal types of projects—overnight tourist cabin area, day-use areas, and observation lookouts.

The service has not recommended any definite boundaries for the recreational reserve but its program report covers an area of approximately 7500 square miles in the form of a rough rectangle 100 miles long from near Las Vegas, Nevada, on the west, to Grand Canyon National monument on the east, and 75 miles wide through the middle. It lies in the path of a great share of transcontinental railroad and motor traffic and is very close to many of the southwestern national parks, monuments, and forests. Travel to the dam has been steadily increasing and reached 1000 a day even before the President threw the switch on September 11 that started generation of power.

FEDERAL AID FOR HOME REMODELING HAS GREAT DOLLAR VALUE

"The total of Modernization and Repair Credit notes insured for lending institutions in the Southern California district and the dollar volume of Insured Mortgage Home financing applications will reach the total of one hundred million by the 31st of December," according to F. W. Marlow, the Southern California Federal Housing Administration director.

Already in excess of $36,500,000 of Title I Modernization notes have been reported to Washington by Southern California lending institutions and there have been filed for insurance home finance loan applications with a dollar volume of $56,592,000.

"Applications are being received at the rate of 56 per day totaling approximately a quarter of a million dollars," said Director Marlow.

The volume of Title I loans is expected to increase very materially because, under the terms of the National Housing Act, March 31, 1937, is the last day that such advances of credit will be insured by the FHA. It is anticipated that thousands of property owners, both residential and income, will take advantage of the low rate and easy terms while the insurance is still available.

It would have been a neat and interesting gesture for Ireland to put on an election while Mr. Farley is over there, so he could show them how such things are run. — New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Proposed City of Palm Springs

This is a sketch of the 21 sections of land (13,440 acres) proposed for incorporation as the City of Palm Springs. The city is to be six miles long and four miles wide at the widest part. Each section is a square mile, consequently the city would have 21 square miles. Included in the area are seven and a half sections of Indian lands (shaded in the map), which, it is said, will not be under the jurisdiction of the city government even if within the city limits, but will become part of the city when and if sold. The incorporation committee adopted unanimously the map as outlined above. Figures denote section numbers, and letters in squares indicate prominent landmarks.

Among the many theatre parties who attended the opening of the new Plaza Theatre were Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Lachman and their daughter, of Palm Springs, with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ohrt of Riverside. Mr. Ohrt is a famous cyclist, having represented America on two occasions at the Olympic games.

Al and Thelma Wertheimer entertained twelve friends at a supper party at their apartment in the Colonial House Sunday evening.

BAJA CALIFORNIA ROADS PUSHED

Plans are under way for the extension of the highway from Ensenada south into the interior of Baja California, reports the outing department of the National Automobile Club. The road is to follow the coast for 15 miles south of Ensenada, then proceed inland. Sportsmen are especially interested in the project since it would make so many guest ranches and hunting grounds more accessible. There is a move to build a connecting road beginning at Mexicali and intersecting the new alignment of the Baja California highway near San Felipe.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from 1 Chronicles: "Sing unto the Lord, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation. Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvelous works among all nations. . . . For all the gods of the people are idols; but the Lord made the heavens. . . . Fear before him, all the earth: the world also shall be stable, that it be not moved. Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice; and let men say among the nations, The Lord reigneth." The Lesson-Sermon presents also the words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them."

P. W. A. Will Prepare School Grounds

Prof. LeRoy Beam of the Banning Union high school district reports that arrangements have been made with the WPA whereby the latter organization will prepare the ground on the Palm Springs site of the future high school building.

The school district will furnish materials. The WPA will clear the site, landscape it, lay water mains, plant shrubbery, install driveways and lay out the athletic field.

Work on the various projects will be started by the WPA shortly after Christmas.

HIGH SCHOOL BOARD WILL SINK WELL ON SCHOOL SITE

The high school board of trustees are seeking bids for drilling a 12-inch well, 350 feet in depth, more or less, on the site of the proposed high school building at Palm Springs.

The well would be used in furnishing water for school purposes.

Bids have also been called for pumping equipment for the well.

ATTRACTIVE NEW BEAUTY SALON OPENS IN PLAZA

Opening of a new and lovely beauty salon in the Plaza brings the completion and occupancy of this million dollar project one step nearer. Christine and Don Flanagan, who for 12 years have been located in and around Los Angeles, are the owners of this modern and attractive shop.

It is finished in antique white with rust trimmings. The booths, chairs and tables all match; and the chairs and tables also have chromium legs and arms.

Christine is a countour artist and an expert hair cutter. She also is an expert in marcel waving, which is not done as much as before permanent waving, but is still popular with many women.

Don features Duart and Machineless Permanent Waving. A complete line of Norma Chelbie Beauty Aids is also featured in the cosmetic line. The shop is located next to Carl's Restaurant which will have its opening on New Years Eve.

TO ADD FOUR UNITS TO COLONIAL HOUSE

Bids have been called for four attractive new units to the Colonial House of Mrs. Thelma Wertheimer on Indian avenue. The additions will include a recreation building and three bungalow units. The structures are being designed by the firm of Brewster and Benedict and will be in the same lovely style as those which were completed this fall.

Incorporation Problems

(Riverside Press)

There is a very pronounced sentiment at Palm Springs in favor of incorporating the village as a city of the sixth class.

But, there are complications, as much of the territory suitable for inclusion in the corporate boundaries is Indian land.

The committee appointed for conducting incorporation proceedings met Monday night to consider the form of the petition and to finally approve the proposed boundaries, consisting of fourteen sections of privately owned lands, checker-boarded with seven and one-half sections of Indian lands.

While the act of legislature provides for a city council of five members for a city of the sixth class, some citizens were in favor of incorporation only if a freeholders' charter, providing for a special form of government, could be obtained, or a city manager form of government with at least fifteen members of the council to represent the various interests of the community.

Consternation was expressed by some when informed by attorneys that a sufficient number of councilmen must be in the city to constitute a quorum for at least one meeting each month during the summer vacation season.

A written protest against the inclusion of their lands within the proposed corporate boundaries was presented by Charles F. Doyle, vice-president of Mardo Corporation, owner of the Smoke Tree ranch, in behalf of the corporation and others in that vicinity.

It was then stated by Alvah Hicks, president of the Palm Springs Water Company, and other large property owners, that if Smoke Tree ranch were not included it would result in the withdrawal of other large parcels of land.

TOP HATTERS TO HAVE PARTY AT RACQUET CLUB

The Top Hatters will have the first of a series of parties at the Racquet Club Saturday night. Reservations have been made for the ten couples, which form the group, and their friends. The dinner dance will be preceded by a cocktail party at the Philip Boyd residence. The Top Hatters' membership, includes Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. James Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Al Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Alger Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Le Blonde, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. In recognition of the co-operation given by the members, the Chamber will include the full roster of paid-up members in the new "Annual," which will be published soon after January 1. This booklet will be valuable to business and professional interests because the classified directory will give the name, vocation, address and telephone number of each business and professional member of the Chamber, classified alphabetically according to vocations. The booklet will have so much other information that every resident of Palm Springs will keep it as a reference guide, and at least 5,000 copies will be distributed. The advertising value of having one's name included in the booklet will be worth the $12.00 membership fee.

the canyon through the turning color of the sycamore tree leaves. Autumn in December in Palm Springs is usual but is unexpected for the Eastern visitor who has left fall behind him several months previous. Against the coloring of the sycamore leaves, willow leaves, and the lone, large Fremont cottonwood is the deep green of the alder tree leaves.

One should not miss making a trip to Tahquitz Canyon at this time; hiking is in order but if you are a rider go on horseback. I have identified more than fifty species of plants in Tahquitz and as the spring annuals appear expect to add about fifty more to the list. If you wish to study the flora of this section, Tahquitz Fan and Tahquitz Canyon are two close-by localities to investigate.

Harness Races

rious types of hurdles. This will be one of the many thrilling events on next Sunday afternoon's program at the Field Club. Helen Murphy will ride her horse "Lucky," which has won the Desert Circus jumping championship of Palm Springs for two consecutive years. Bobby Patterson will ride "Buddy" in the jumping contests. Others entered in the event include Paul Grueggmann on "Lady," a beautiful white jumper; Miss Mary White and other equestrians will ride in the jumping competition.

Last week-end's harness races were witnessed by an enthusiastic audience who saw Tarzan Axworthy, an outstanding pacing horse driven by D. June, win both of the heats of the 2:15 pace mile race. Abbe Britton, driven by R. Sherry, won second honors in this event, winning third and second places respectively in the two heats.

Hollywood Colin, driven by R. Sherry, was a double winner in the two heats of the free for all trot race, beating a field of five other outstanding Pacific coast trotters including Star Bright, who holds the California all-time speed record for this event. Hollywood Colin set a new Palm Springs Field Club track record for the mile by going the distance in 2:13¾.

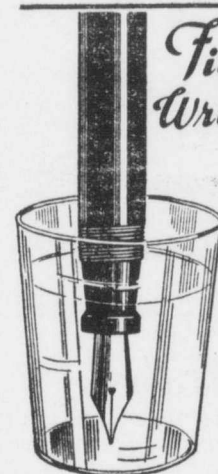

W. R. Murphy piloted his fast pacing horse, Northern Bell, to two victories in the heats of the free-for-all pace mile. The audience cheered lustily as they urged their favorites to win the race. Gil Curry acted as chief announcer and starter at the races last week-end. Earl Coffman, Frank Bennett and A. P. Fleming, noted horse show manager, of San Mateo were judges. G. E. Moreland, managing director of the Field Club, was in charge of all arrangements for the event. Dr. Henry Hoagland, president of the Palm Springs Field Club, took an active part in staging last week's interesting race and gymkhana program.

Among those noted at the event were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lacy of Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. George Silsbee of Bel-Air social prominence; William Kidston, Mrs. Marion Fulford and daughter, Jean, Mrs. Marie Glover of Los Angeles; John Warburton, movie star, and Mrs. Warburton; Miss Nydia Westman of Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. George Roberson; Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hoagland; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Moreland; all were among those noted in the box section at the harness races at the Field Club.

Probably the most interesting event on next Sunday's program at the Field Club which will start at 1:30 p. m. is the amateur drivers harness race in which prominent Palm Springs ladies including Mrs. James B. Oliver, Mrs. Marion Fulford, Mrs. Harold Hicks, Miss Helen Murphy and others will drive the fast trotting horses in a special race. Harness racing has gained much popularity here and many Palm Springs residents are planning to buy and drive their own trotting horses in future amateur races. A large crowd will turn out to see the first amateur drivers sulky race ever to be staged at Palm Springs with local well-known ladies driving the speedy horses.

Box seats for next Sunday's double feature including professional harness races and gymkhana events are on sale at the Desert Inn, El Mirador and Palm Springs Drug Store, opposite the Desert Inn.

Visitors to the Shop of Charm in the Carnell building have commented on the beautiful display of old and new silver that is being shown on the center table at the entrance. Included in the display is a Georgian Sheffield urn which dates back to 1790. Beautiful candlesticks, silver tea pots and coffee sets, plates, cups and bowls of many different kinds and designs complete this interesting array.
